DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

2. Claim 24 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Tanaka et al (5349065).

See example 139 in column 73.

3. Claims 1-12 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by WO 98/42695.

See the compounds on page 11 and the general formula I on pages 3-4.

Art Unit: 1712

4. Claims 1-3, 7-9, 13-16 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by JP 08-295690.

See example no 17.

5. Claims 1-3, 7-9, 13-16, 21, 22 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tanizawa et al (6197225 B1).

Tanizawa teaches a naphthopyran compound which may contain a halogen substituent R4 in the 7 or 9 position, and exemplifies such a compound (see example 41 in column 76, and column 6, line 64 - column 7, line 12). R2 and R3 can be alkoxy substituted phenyl groups (column 3, lines 13-36). The formation of a layer of a lens from a polymer solution of the naphthopyran is taught in column 34, lines 29-32. The present invention is thus anticipated by Tanizawa.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1712

7. Claims 1, 4-6, 9-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO 98/42695 in view of Tanizawa (6197225).

WO '695 teaches a naphthopyran compound which can contain halogen substituents at positions 7 or 9, and exemplifies such compounds on page 11. WO '695 teaches that such naphthopyran compounds may be used in polymeric hosts in the formation of ophthalmic lenses. WO '695 differs in not specifically teaching that such polymer composition forms a layer of the lens. Tanizawa teaches that a polymer solution of a naphthopyran may be used to form a layer of an ophthalmic lens (column 34, lines 29-32). It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make a layer of an ophthalmic lens using the polymer-naphthopyran composition of WO '695, given the teaching of Tanizawa that a polymer solution of a naphthopyran may be used to form a layer of an ophthalmic lens, and the teaching of WO '695 that such composition is useful for the formation of ophthalmic lenses.

8. Claim 20 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

PHILIP C. TUCKER
ART UNIT 1712

Recent Statutory Changes to 35 U.S.C. § 102(e)

On November 2, 2002, President Bush signed the 21st Century Department of Justice Appropriations Authorization Act (H.R. 2215) (Pub. L. 107-273, 116 Stat. 1758 (2002)), which further amended 35 U.S.C. § 102(e), as revised by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) (Pub. L. 106-113, 113 Stat. 1501 (1999)). The revised provisions in 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) are completely retroactive and effective immediately for all applications being examined or patents being reexamined. Until all of the Office's automated systems are updated to reflect the revised statute, citation to the revised statute in Office actions is provided by this attachment. This attachment also substitutes for any citation of the text of 35 U.S.C. § 102(e), if made, in the attached Office action.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 102 in view of the AIPA and H.R. 2215 that forms the basis for the rejections under this section made in the attached Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

35 U.S.C. § 102(e), as revised by the AIPA and H.R. 2215, applies to all qualifying references, except when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. For such patents, the prior art date is determined under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) as it existed prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. § 102(e)).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraph of 35 U.S.C. § 102 prior to the amendment by the AIPA that forms the basis for the rejections under this section made in the attached Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.
